

Kai West Schlosser

Creative

A proud dyslexic. Hands-on creative. Currently Sr. Art Director at Serviceplan Innovation, the agency network's creative R&D unit.

Having worked in logistics, bars, and construction sites, I bring a variety of experiences to the table, along with skills that are atypical to an art director. Off the clock, you'll find me experimenting in the kitchen or turning everyday objects into something new through craft. When I'm on the job, I create efficient systems but also know when to break them apart. One of the works I'm most proud of is Dyslexia Unetided, aimed at normalizing dyslexia in written texts. I had this piece edited by my copywriter to pass those annoying ATS checks.
